What is a Monarch?

A Monarch is not easily defined. He/She has a unique background and may represent any culture of the world. A Monarch is on a quest to develop to one's maximum potential. He/She starts changing the world by changing from within.

Being a Monarch is not about power or royalty. It is about being self-aware, curious, and open. A Monarch actively pursues growth in the artistic, intellectual, and spiritual realms. There are plenty of opportunities provided for a Monarch to enrich oneself.

Here at Methodist College, a Monarch gains self-assurance, understanding, knowledge, and a deeper connection to our fellow human beings. These are years of discovery. Limitations are dispelled and success is redefined. Each Monarch wears a crown of experiences which have taught us we are strong enough to survive and succeed.

Homecoming!

It was a time for unity and victory at the 1993 homecoming game for the Monarchs. Students from the past and present along with family members gathered for a day of fun in the sun. The mighty football team came from behind to defeat Bridgewater. During halftime, the crowd was entertained by the brand new Monarch Dancers. There were plenty of good food and drink to be had with the concession stand and the Student Education Association's bake sale. Colorful shirts and other school memorabilia were also being sold by such vendors as the sports teams and the Student Club for Exceptional Children. It was a good day for meeting friends both old and new.

Later that night, the traditional dance was held and the homecoming king and queen were crowned. Brett Gross was crowned Homecoming King and Leigh Rector was named Homecoming Queen. First runners up were Christy Barber and Bill Neibrich. Second runners up were Elizabeth Horton and Chris Dockery. All contestants were nominated by organizations or clubs here on campus. Congratulations to all the participants of the Homecoming events for making it a successful and fun week.

Hootin' and hollerin' were a large part of the day as this crowd shows.

Crowned before a crowd of her peers, Leigh Rector exudes all the happiness of a new Homecoming Queen.

Having a blast at the Homecoming dance.

Rainbow's End sang the national anthem on this beautiful day.

We've got the spirit!

New Beginnings

Freshman Orientation

August. It is a month of new beginnings for the Monarchs. Our newest class of freshmen converges upon the campus for Freshmen Orientation. This orientation consists of many elements designed to ease our newest class into life on campus.

The challenge course is the most active and enjoyable part of Orientation weekend. Participants go through exercises designed to build trust in others. Self-confidence, responsibility, and creativity are also encouraged. Freshmen also receive a first look at our large and beautiful outdoor scenery.

Getting acquainted with one another is one goal of Freshman Orientation. Getting the facts is also a large part of the weekend. Students live in the dorms for one weekend and attend several seminars. Tours of the campus are also directed for both parents and students. Through this program, August serves as not just the end of summer, but also as the beginning of college careers.

We Did It!

Success comes to those who make an effort, no matter what the talent or ability level. The Cheerleaders made a trip to San Diego, California for national competition in the spring. A Division Three team, the Cheerleaders placed third in Division Two competition. This is the highest any Division Three team has ever placed on that level. It is also a personal best for the Methodist College Cheerleaders. The event will air nationally on ESPN2 in May. Congratulations to both team members and coach.

The Special Olympics were held at Methodist College on April 11th through the 14th. A rain day interrupted the games for just one day. Many volunteers, such as Brett Ciancanelli and Chris Daggett below, came from both the campus and community to help the competitors. It was tons of fun for both the children and volunteers. The warm sunshine and friendly atmosphere were a boost to the spirit of sportsmanship. Lots of medals, hugs, and smiles were given out. Methodist College supports the efforts of all involved and looks forward to further Games.

These two events give evidence of the Monarch dedication to achieving the maximum personal potential despite one's abilities or talents. We can all make dreams come true if we continue to strive and work toward our goals. Gold medals and trophies will not always be awarded for one's efforts, but the reward is knowing in your heart that you gave it your all.

Winners

Artistic Treasures of the Kingdom

Methodist College has a treasure of music, theatre, and art for all. Our theatre has put on many popular performances for all ages. "Snow White" was a hit with the large number of elementary students who came to see it. The outdoor production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was well attended also. Graduate Caroline Kearns wrote and directed "Out of Gas" which went on to national competition in Washington D.C.

The Circuit Players were kept busy performing for various church and civic functions all year.

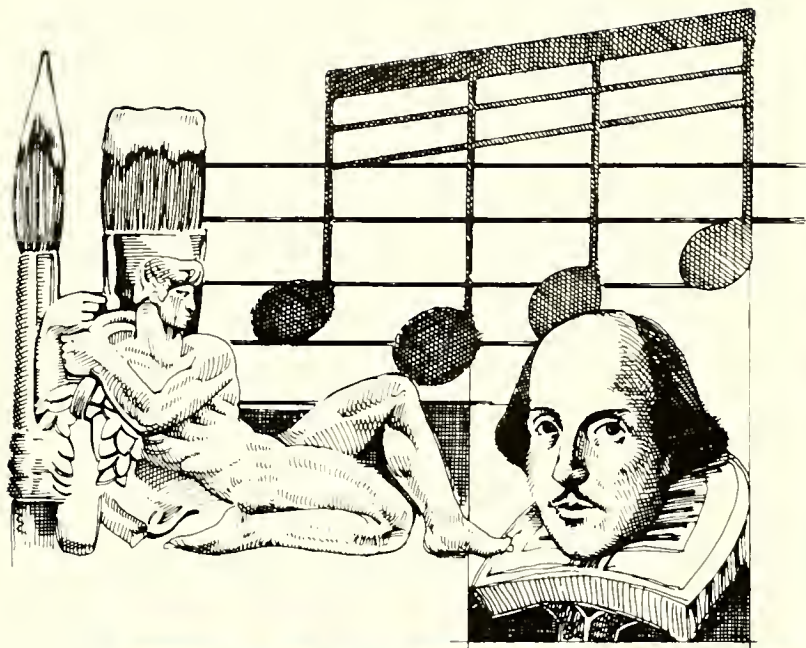

Do not forget the many talented artists featured at the Mallet-Rogers House. Valerie Harel, Joella Sanders, and Becky Kenton Lee were all featured in senior art exhibitions. These exhibitions are free and open to the public.

Musicians and singers alike also have senior recitals in the Mallet-Rogers House. Kimberly Weaver and Kim Alexander both performed during the spring semester.

Our Chorus had a wonderful recital in the winter. Rainbow's End, the small performing choral group, sang at Homecoming and several other events during the year. All of the arts are alive and well at Methodist College.

Spirit of the Monarch

This crowd at Homecoming shows just how much Monarch pride there is, among past and present students.

One of our Monarch Ambassadors is all smiles as she gives a tour of the campus to a large group one warm Spring day.

This large crowd is just a fraction of the number of people who attended Summer Orientation.

Whatever you do, don't look down!
A tricky exercise in trust and teamwork during Orientation.

It's all a matter of balance. This is a difficult lesson, but a necessary one as new students will handle both class work and social ties here at Methodist.

Awards And Ceremonies

Winter Graduation

Winter commencement ceremonies were held December 17th for 104 graduates. Dr. William Harrison, Hoke County Schools Superintendent, served as the speaker.

He asked students to adopt a personal mission statement and set lifelong goals. The 1974 graduate of Methodist also spoke of the importance of learning from adversity.

Dr. William Harrison advised graduates to:

- 1) Be all you can be — work hard to develop competence, credibility, and a value system.
- 2) Do the right thing — do not let the desire for short-term goals jeopardize long-term goals.
- 3) Do unto others as you would have them do unto you — help and support your fellow man.

Gary D. Rhodes received the Sam Edwards Award which denotes him as the outstanding evening student.

Dr. Elton Hendricks, college president, presented a Methodist College Medallion to Rev. Russell Knowles, a United Methodist minister from Bolivia, NC, recognizing his success in the ministry and his recruitment of at least 20 students for Methodist.

Five students — Sharon Archer of the Bahamas, Abigail Findlay of the United Kingdom, Valerie Harel of Mauritius, Martin Knoll and Gesa Wellenstein of Germany — presented the college with flags of their native countries.

The winter class had twenty-one students graduate with honors. There were two magna cum laude, one summa cum laude, and eighteen cum laude graduates. The Carillon salutes all graduates and wishes you the best!

Winter graduates, their family, friends, and faculty crowd the Reeves auditorium for commencement ceremonies.

Happiness is graduating!

It may be cold and windy, but these graduates are excited and anxious to complete their stay at Methodist.

Rev. Russell Knowles proudly displays his Methodist College Medallion.

Spring Graduation

Methodist College held its 31st spring graduation ceremony on May 22, 1994 in the Reeves Auditorium. Graduates and families exhibited smiles of satisfaction which beamed as brightly as the sun. Over 100 degrees were presented to 126 persons.

Brig. Gen. James M. Link, a 1966 graduate of Methodist, was the commencement speaker. He challenged the seniors to live one's values, be true to themselves, and resist outside influences in decision making. Link urged the graduates to "be your character. . . the sum of all your parts."

Gen. Link offered six observations for the graduating class to consider. They are:

- 1) Money is not a satisfier; material things do not bring happiness
- 2) Your family is your most important legacy; take time for your children
- 3) There is great joy in being part of something bigger than yourself

4) People are great; with good leadership they will meet your every expectation

5) Strive for excellence in all things

6) Take good care of yourself. . . physically, spiritually, and mentally.

The baccalaureate sermon was offered Sunday morning by the Rev. Sid Huggins of Greenville, N.C. He discussed journalist Bill Moyer's thesis that the most important news story of the next fifty years will be the search for and interest in spirituality.

Rev. Huggins implored the seniors to "Let your spirit come alive in the right relationship with God and you'll be ready to live with enthusiasm." He also predicted a move toward a new wholeness rooted in a spiritual foundation where all are working for the common good.

College president, Dr. Elton Hendricks, presented three honorary degrees — a Doctor of Divinity to the Rev. H. Sidney Huggins III, and Doctor of Humanities degrees to Joseph P. Riddle and Brig. Gen. James M. Link.

Stephen Austin Fann, a summa cum laude graduate from Salemburg, N.C., received the L. Stacy Weaver Award. This award is chosen by the faculty to denote the senior who best exemplifies academic excellence, spiritual development, leadership, and service. Fann is a biology and chemistry major who has also been awarded a Brody Fellowship to attend the East Carolina University School of Medicine in the fall.

Eight Army ROTC graduates took the Oath of Allegiance as second lieutenants. They are: Brian Scott Berry, Ben Hideo Dennis, Cynthia A.O. Evelyn, Rodney Githens, Martine Suzanne Lowry, Robert Lenn Ralston, Fletcher D. Walters, Diedre Lynn Windsor.

Two Air Force ROTC graduates also took the Oath of Allegiance, having previously been commissioned as second lieutenants. They are: Dereck Jamal Barnes and Jonathan Lee Terry.

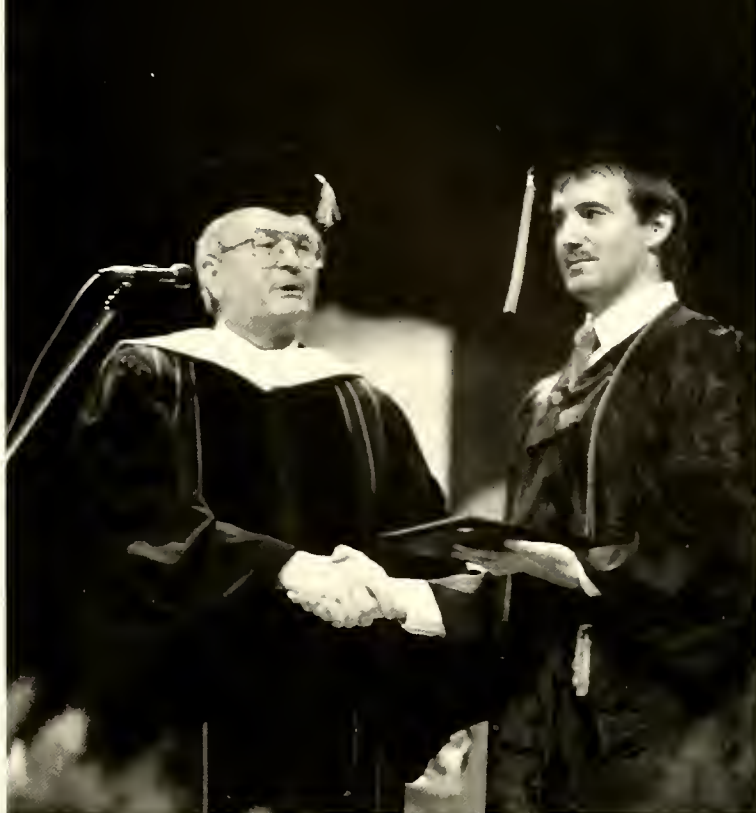

Best wishes to all of the Spring graduates!

Brig. Gen. James M. Link receives his honorary Doctor of Humanities from the college president.

Jeannie Denman walks into a bright future with her two degrees.

Steven Fann receives the Stacey Weaver Award for outstanding academic achievement.

Brig. Gen. James M. Link swears in eight Army ROTC graduates as second lieutenants with the Oath of Allegiance.

STUDENT LIFE

Life in the Kingdom

It Isn't the Same as Yesteryear

As you can see from the pictures on the previous page, students at Methodist College are involved in various activities both on and off campus. Student Life no longer defines the clubs, organizations, or groups one hangs out with most on campus. A much broader perspective must be taken when envisioning the many lives lead by Monarchs.

Just as enrollment increases year after year, so does the makeup of the student body. Individuals come to Methodist not only from different parts of the country, but also various parts of the world. We are fortunate to have students from Haiti, China, Korea, Germany, Ireland, Saudi Arabia, and other nations. These students bring a new window in which to view the world and ourselves.

The population on campus is less traditional. Nontraditional students are enrolling in record numbers and may soon outnumber their counterparts. The military community is strong in attendance here at Methodist. Not only do veterans pursue their degrees, but active duty members are also in force. It is not uncommon to find yourself seated next to a service member who has been granted time away from work to participate in regular day classes.

Nontraditional students are not defined by the military itself. This term can be applied to the more mature students seeking to update their skills or changing careers. Parents are also included. During county school holidays, both mothers and fathers can be seen walking down the hallways with their children. Professors are not surprised to be asked if it's okay to let the kids come to class.

Methodist College is certainly being thought of in a new light as it embraces both the traditional and nontraditional students. The wider representation by the student body is excellent advertising for this institution. With so many voices from differing places, word of mouth is easily spread around the globe about our beloved college. Where better to seek knowledge and growth than a microcosm of the world itself.

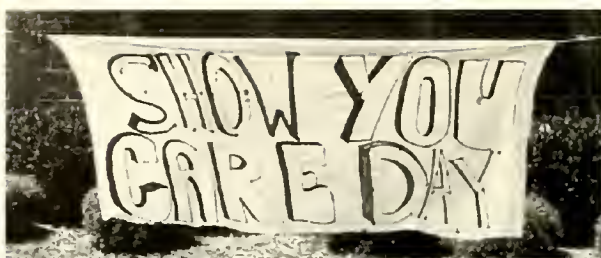

I See a Rainbow of

Students Here

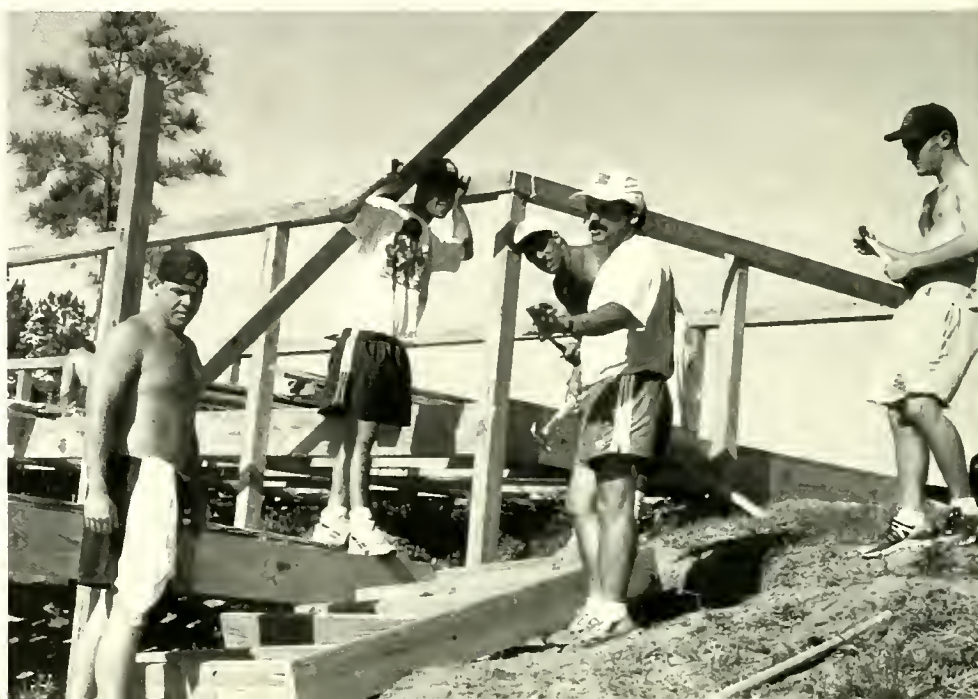

April 30, 1994 was a Saturday filled with work, work, and more work for volunteers on Show You Care Day. This is the annual clean-up day for the campus. Students, faculty, and staff alike join together and complete several projects throughout the day.

Dormitory students showed up in droves to beautify the campus. Dressed in shorts and t-shirts, participants put their muscles to work in the Spring sun. Monarch spirit was thriving as hammers whacked, brooms swept, and garbage bags were filled.

An expansive wooden deck was built behind the football field and track. Picnic tables were also put up. Flower beds were weeded and plants put in to root. Administrators and teachers, such as Dr. DeLapa and Dean Safley, also lent a helping hand with the beautification efforts.

Community spirit flourished and every volunteer could honestly say they did a good days work. It is days like this which highlight Methodist's dedication to personal growth via helping others and working within the community.

SPRING FLING!

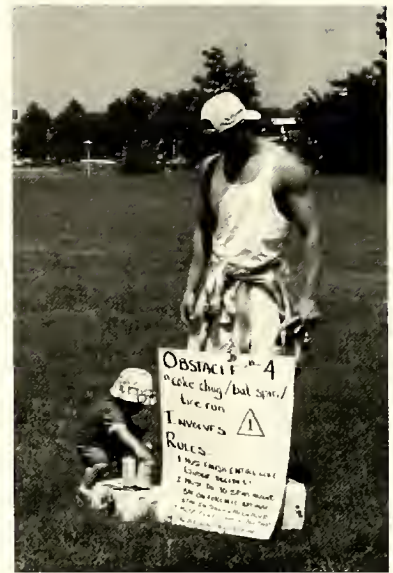

The first weekend of May was designated Spring Fling for the 1993-94 school year. The 6th, 7th, and 8th were days set aside to let loose and chill out for a while before final exams. Students and staff alike were invited to enjoy games, listen to a live band, and take part in a huge cook-out. It was a success.

Dean Safley came dressed in a Panama hat to get things started. Several silly games were posted around the fields for all to enjoy. Notice the potato sack race and water ring hurdle events in these photos. Volleyball was also played behind the wooden deck built during Show You Care Day.

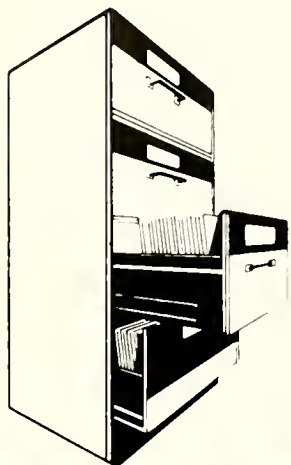

The theatre department had a get together in the amphitheatre where plenty of dancing and laughing took place.

It was a weekend to unwind, play, and forget for just a little while all of the studious things. This respite from academics serves to reenergize spirits and let steam off. After all, there is nothing better than some time to kick back with friends and enjoy a beautiful day.

The 1994 Career Fair

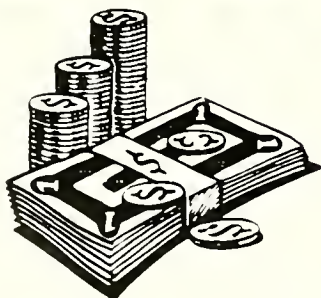

Taking it from the Classroom to the Workplace

Ms. Paula Miller, Director of the Career Development Center, headed up the 1994 Career Fair held in early spring in the Student Affairs Center. Representatives from many companies and regional employers set up booths for interested students. Graduating seniors were the focal target; however, all students seeking employment were invited. This all-day event included such prospective employers as the North Carolina State Troopers, Cumberland County Schools, St. Joseph Home Health Care, regional police departments, and Job Service.

Each booth was full of pamphlets and information about the company. Representatives were eager to assist students and find good candidates for open positions.

Students attending the career fair were asked to bring copies of their resume and be dressed for an interview. It was a useful time for students to test the waters in the business world. Students were able to practice their interview skills and gain a realistic perspective of the job market. A few students were hired at the fair for jobs following graduation. Congratulations to these students and to Paula Miller for hosting a successful Career Fair.

Miss Methodist

The Miss Methodist pageant competition was held April 6, 1994 in the Reeves Auditorium. Six single female students competed for the crown. This event is sponsored by the Student Affairs Council in an effort to raise funds.

The theme this year was "Country Style". Several musical numbers as well as the casual wear competition exhibited country music and dress. Special entertainment was provided by Kimberly Weaver the reigning Miss Methodist from 1992. The Semi-formal Wear portion of the competition was called "Two-Steppin' Time". Emcee Charlotte Coheley conducted the on-stage interviews of contestants. In keeping with the theme, this part was called "Yakking Time".

Kelley Carter, Young Miss Erwin Denim, performed for the audience previous to the Semi-formal competition. After a ten minute intermission, the audience was treated to music performed by Shawn Cucciardi, a member of the Methodist College Chorus and the Student Affairs Council.

Donna Miesell, Tammy Coleman, Tammy Craddock, Ramond Hathaway, and Sandra Lee served as the judges for the evening. Liauna Jordan was the auditor. Tiffany Allen was crowned Miss Methodist 1994. Kerry Oliastro was named 1st Runner-up. Jodie Owen was named 2nd Runner-Up. Dawn Renth received 3rd Runner-Up.

SPORTS

Football

By winning four games in one season, the young Methodist College football team won more games in one season than the total number of wins in the previous four years.

Highlights include the first road victory in the history of the school; first back-to-back wins; the highest point total in a game (36); and the first defensive shut-out. Jeff Baker, senior offensive lineman, started forty straight games; Corey Johnson, freshman running back, established new season and career rushing totals; and Ben Pope reestablished new passing records in every category. Also, Tony Bugeja, rush kicker, broke all the place kicking marks in a single season, and Derek George, freshman tight end, broke the season reception mark.

The Monarch Football Team had a victorious season.

Cheerleading

The 1993-94 Methodist College Cheerleaders were a veteran group with a great deal of skills and ability. They took their skills and their experience right to the top in San Diego, California at the National Cheerleading Championships.

Methodist College started the year off with a second place ranking in the preliminaries of the National Championships. Then, they went on the repeat as Dixie Conference Champions. They went to San Diego with one goal in mind and that was to hit their routine; they did. Methodist College should be proud of these athletes for bringing home the highest finish in Monarch history. The Cheerleaders finished third among Division II and III schools. They will be losing seven seniors to graduation.

The Methodist College Cheerleaders would like to congratulate all of the athletic teams for their inspired performances throughout the year.

Volleyball

The Lady Monarchs finished the conference season in a tie for third place with an 8-6 record. They defeated the fifth place team in the Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference tournament before falling to the eventual tournament champions. The team played well in Atlanta and Washington, D.C., their two big tournaments, and ended the season 16-16.

Junior setter Kim Miller from Jacksonville, North Carolina received First Team All-DIAC honors as well as All-Tournament honors. Senior outside hitter, Danielle Genest of Woodbridge, Virginia, and senior middle hitter Jill Sturenfeldt of Jeanette, Pennsylvania, were named Second Team All-DIAC. Jill Sturenfeldt was voted the team's Most Valuable Player.

Women's Basketball

The Lady Monarch basketball program continued its winning ways under the tutelage of Coach Rita Wiggs. The team posted a final 17-10 record and reached the championship game of the DIAC tournament for the third consecutive year. Senior Roxanne Cannaday was named to the DIAC All-Conference second team and junior point guard Stefanie Duncan was selected to the DIAC All-Tournament team. Freshman Lorrie Johnson was named to the All-Tournament team at the Ramada Inn Tip-off Doubleheader in Ashland, Virginia and Stefanie Duncan received the same honor at the Ferrum College Classic.

The 1993-94 Monarch Men's basketball team showed great improvement under second year head coach Bob McEvoy. The team finished 13-12, for only the third winning record in fifteen years. The season was highlighted by the Monarchs capturing their Invitational Tournament Championship, a second place finish in the Frostbuy State Tourney, a National Ranking of number fifteen in the NCAA Division III ranks on January 6, 1994, and also South Regional ranking of number eight in December of 1993. With only one senior on the squad the future looks bright for the Monarch hoopsters.

Women's Tennis

The Women's Tennis team exemplified what athletic competition is all about. With a positive outlook, a ton of hustle, and big hearts they finished the season with an outstanding second place finish in the DIAC Conference Tournament. Heather Hyslop was the lone senior with five first year players. Freshman Christy Hopper stepped up to the challenge finishing the season with a dual match record of 7-5. Senior Roxanne Cannaday joined the team with her fierce competitive spirit battling for a singles record of eleven wins and two losses. Junior Ellen Westcoat brought the patience of Job. Sophomore Darlene Dykas blessed her team with a good heart. And freshman Megan Burnett served them with some comic relief.

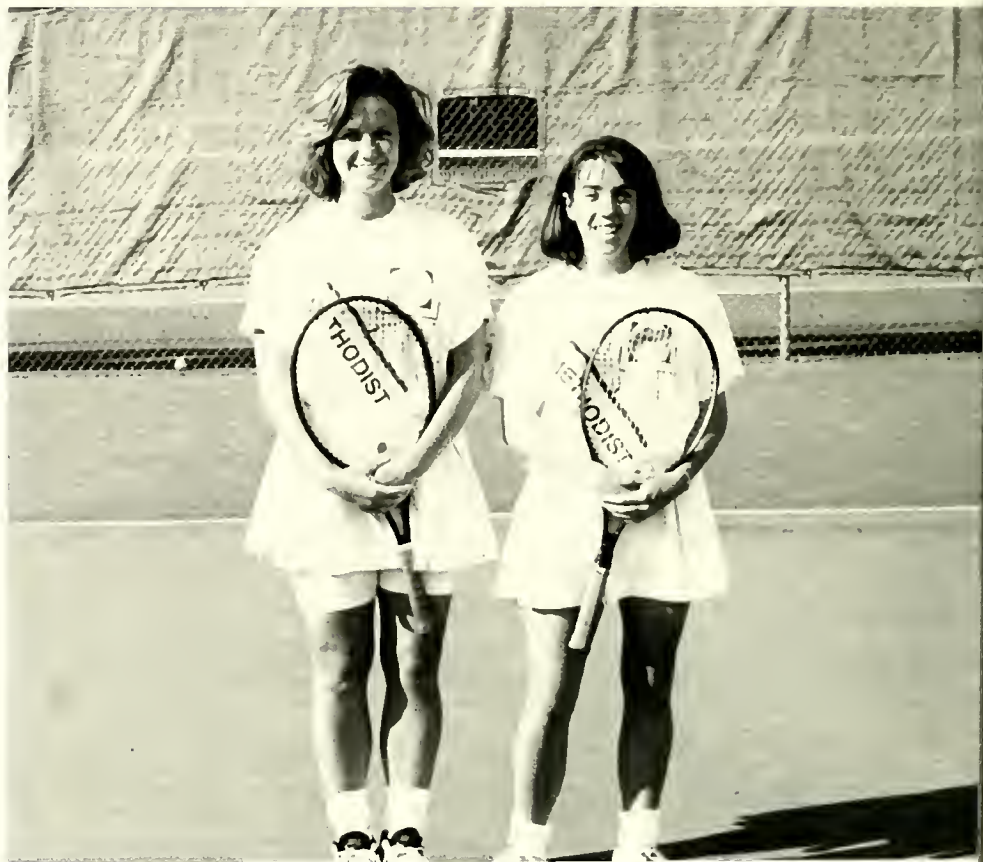

Heather, Christy, and Roxanne earned All Conference honors.

Christy Hopper was selected as the Most Valuable Player. She has shown devotion and commitment to both her personal growth and team improvement.

Senior and Captain Mark Faber shows us his aggressive form that brought him three All-Conference Awards while at Methodist.

The Men's Tennis Team had a very successful season. Comprised of two seniors and five first-year players, the team finished the season ranked seventh in the South Region with thirteen wins and four losses. The team swept the regular season in Dixie Conference matches with a 5-0 record and won their fifth consecutive Conference Title.

Mark Faber, Wade Liles, David Wood, Brian Clary and Doug Tingle were named to the Dixie All-Conference Team. Freshman David Wood compiled an outstanding singles record of twenty wins and four losses. The doubles team of Mark Faber and Wade Liles compiled a record of 19-4 earning an impressive national ranking of number thirteen. Two highlights include winning the NCAA Division III Southern Championships in Atlanta and beating the number one team from tennis powerhouse Kalamazoo.

Two players were recognized for having made a significant contribution to the team. Freshman Doug Tingle was selected by his teammates for outstanding dedication, commitment, and positive attitude both on and off the court.

Mark Faber was selected as the Most Valuable Player. Mark led his team with hard work and intensity.

Wade Liles demonstrates his outstanding net play that awarded him All-Conference and All-South Awards.

Track and Field

Injuries took their toll on the men's and women's cross country teams. Abigail placed in the top 10 at every regular season meet and made all-conference.

The men's indoor track team finished third at the Mason-Dixon conference Championship and scored a record 85 points. Junior Jamelle Ushery won the 55 high hurdles and the 200 meter dash. The Lady Monarchs finished 5th at the Mason-Dixon indoor track meet. Hope Kelly won the 1500 meter run and Karen Murphy took third in the high jump.

The men's outdoor track team finished 5th at the Mason-Dixon Championship, but Jamelle Ushery repeated as 110 high hurdle champion. Jamelle finished 4th in the NCAA Division III Nationals and was named to the All-American team. The women's outdoor track team took 5th at the Mason-Dixon Championships. Hope Kelly won the 1500 and 3000 meter races.

Softball

The 1994 Methodist College Softball Season came to a close with a fourth place finish in the Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Tournament. The Lady Monarchs claimed the regular season championship with a 7-3 conference record while posting an overall season record of 23-16.

The season began with the championship title at the fifteen team Methodist College Invitational. Methodist defeated Messiah College (PA) in the semi-finals, 4-1. The final game was against Chowan College (NC) and was won with a 1-0 in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Methodist also played at the Virginia Wesleyan Invitational and Ferrum Invitational (VA). During the Virginia Wesleyan Tournament, the Lady Monarchs defeated the host and fifth ranked team in the Mid-Atlantic Region, 3-2 as the ending score. While at the Ferrum Invitational, the team lost a close game with the second ranked team in the Central Region, Penn State-Behrend.

The Lady Monarchs had two players named as DIAC Athletes of the Week, April 11, 1994. Sophomore Monica Dunn from Fredricksburg, Virginia as named Player of the Week when she hit .474 (10-19) in five games. She had three doubles, a triple and nine RBI's. Freshman pitcher Heather Lucas was honored as Rookie of the Week when she threw six complete games, winning five of them with an ERA of 1.72.

End of the season honors were abound for the Methodist team. Senior second baseman Anne Uleman (Fairfax, VA) was named First Team All Conference as was junior catcher Kim Miller (Jacksonville, NC), junior centerfielder Kerry Oliastro (Riverside, PA), sophomore hitter Sherry Smyly (Miami, FL). Freshman pitcher Heather Lucas (Mars, PA) made the Second All-Conference Team, while Jennifer Maurer, a freshman left fielder (Washington, PA) was named to the DIAC All-Tournament Team after hitting three triples in a single game. Oliastro was also named to the All-Region Team. Karen Smith was honored as the 1994 DIAC Coach of the Year.

The Methodist College Baseball team played well this season, ending with a 6-4 mark in the Dixie Conference. Their season record was 25-14-1. Sophomore Chris Culbreth led the Methodist Baseball team this year. He hit .358 and had a record of 42 runs batted in on 54 hits. Included in his great season record he recorded eight triples, ten doubles, and had four home runs, which tied him for second. Tom Evans hit .343, having 47 hits, 25 RBI, two triples, ten doubles, and two home runs. He was named first team All-Conference and All-South. Pitcher Matt Boucher, a senior, had an 8-3 record in 99.1 innings pitched, and was second in ERA with a 2.72 mark. Pitcher Brian Ford was named to the Dixie Conference second team, and turned in a 6-4 slate with a 2.45 earned run average in 80.2 innings (minimum 40 innings pitched). He was fourth in ERA, and was among the conference leaders in strikeout per game. The team played well against their stiff competition.

Women's Golf

The Methodist Women's Golf team held on to their pre-season ranking of #1 throughout the year as they won their eighth National Championship and fourth consecutive NGCA title.

The team was led by Elizabeth Horton, a junior from Middletown, Ohio, who won the individual national title in Division III, firing an even par 72 in the second round. Horton was strongly supported by 1994 MVP winner, Kelly Cap, a junior from Boardman, Ohio, sophomore Ana Rodriguez, from Santander, Spain, sophomore Machell Kolb from Youngstown, Ohio, and freshman Jennifer Cieslak from Windham, Connecticut.

Horton, Cap, Rodriguez and Kolb were selected for the All-American squad. The Methodist women's golf program now has 31 All-Americans in its nine year history and four All-American scholar-athletes.

The team enjoyed a successful regular season which was highlighted by the win at the James Madison Invitational, while Kelly Cap won the individual Kelly shot a final round of even par 72 in very difficult weather conditions to seal her first victory.

Elizabeth Horton and Kelly Cap were invited to the NCAA Division I Open Golf Championship held at the Oregon Golf Club in Portland, Oregon.

The national statistical rankings at the end of the year found Methodist College women in the 48th spot in a field of all Division I, II, and III teams in the country.

After losing two national individual champions in Allyson Greer and Amy Hoke from the 1993 championship team, there were some questions as to whether the Lady Monarchs could return as strong a team in 1994.

Those questions have been answered affirmatively with the fine performance of this year's eighth national championship team.

Kelly Cap, JMV Invitational Winner and 1994 Most Valuable Player, shows her happiness after yet another victory.

Men's Golf

The 1993-94 Men's Golf team recaptured the NCAA Division III National Championship by winning at home at King's Grant Country Club by 24 strokes over defending champion U.C. San Diego. The Monarchs won three other tournaments including the Dixie Conference Championship, the Gordin Classic, and the Emory Invitational. All five starters earned All-American and All-District III honors. Jim Nickerson was the individual runner-up at Nationals and was first team All-American, All-District and All-Conference. Ryan Jenkins finished fourth and was also first team All-American, All-District and was selected to represent Division III in the USA/Japan matches in June in Japan. Jamie Hurlless was first team All-American and All-District; Sammy Judson was second team All-American, All-District and All-Conference; Ben VanNess was Honorable Mention All-American and All-District.

A Year of Memories

During a year at Methodist College, students learn more than what any professor could teach in a course. The Methodist College experience teaches life, and how to survive daily challenges. It teaches students about growing up and how it feels to suddenly be what the world will mandate you be for the rest of your life - a responsible adult.

At Methodist College, students turn a year of college into a year of memories.

The world mourned the loss of former President Richard M. Nixon in 1994. Pictured here, Methodist College flags at half-mast.

In September 1993, the world watched as the former Soviet Union's fledgling democracy was subject to an attempted coup.

World in Review

Forces and interests the world over were drawn to Somalia in 1993 to try to restore peace to the country, which was ravaged by a famine that resulted from a power struggle between dictator Mohamed Siad Barre and warlord Ali Mahdi Mohamed.

The ongoing civil war in what was once Yugoslavia continued in 1993-94. Much attention fell on Sarajevo, where much of the fighting was centered.

September 13, 1993 was a great day of history and hope as Israel's Yitzhak Rabin and Palestine's Yasser Arafat signed a peace treaty that recognized the existence of the state Israel.

In August 1993, Pope John Paul II visited the UNited States. The highlight of the trip was a Mass conducted on World Youth Day in a park near Denver.

Sheik Omar Abdel-Rahman was charged on August 25, 1993, with commanding a "war of urban terrorism" in New York City.

National Review

Across the Northeast, the Midwest, and large parts of the South, the extreme cold and record-breaking snowfalls of winter 1994 brought an end to the daily routine. Thaw from the winter did not come until the rest of the country was well into spring.

U.S. forces invaded the African country Somalia to help end hunger and to fall Mohamed Aidid.

The death of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis brought a final end to Camelot. She was the strident widow of President John Kennedy, who was assassinated in 1963.

Early on the morning of September 22, 1993, an Amtrak train hurled off a bridge into a bayou in Alabama.

President Bill Clinton and Vice President Al Gore outlined plans to cut and reshape the federal bureaucracy.

In some of the worst flooding of American history, the Midwest was turned into water country during the summer of 1993.

An earthquake registering 6.6 struck Southern California January 17, 1994. Extensive damage and fires resulted from the shake.

Methodist's Year

The bells rang for the first time in many years on campus this year. The bell tower was refurbished, allowing the bells and chimes to once again work.

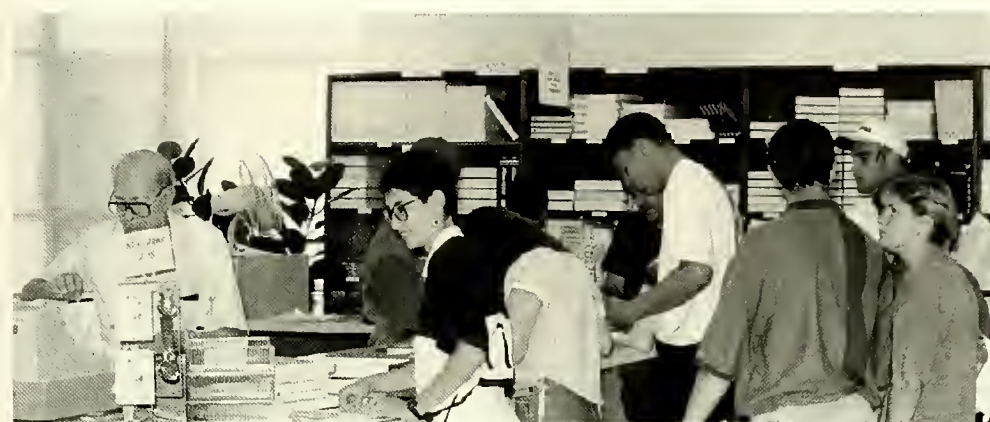

Methodist built a new entrance sign on Ramsey Street this year. The sign features lights, brass letters, and fountains.

Construction of a new dorm began January 1994. The dorm is to be opened for students Fall 1994.

Workers install new carpet in Hensdale Chapel in January 1993. The renovation was made possible by a gift from Mrs. Ruth Pelmer of Kitty Hawk, N.C.

The book store and many other campus locations were a little more crowded this year: enrollment increased in 1993-94.

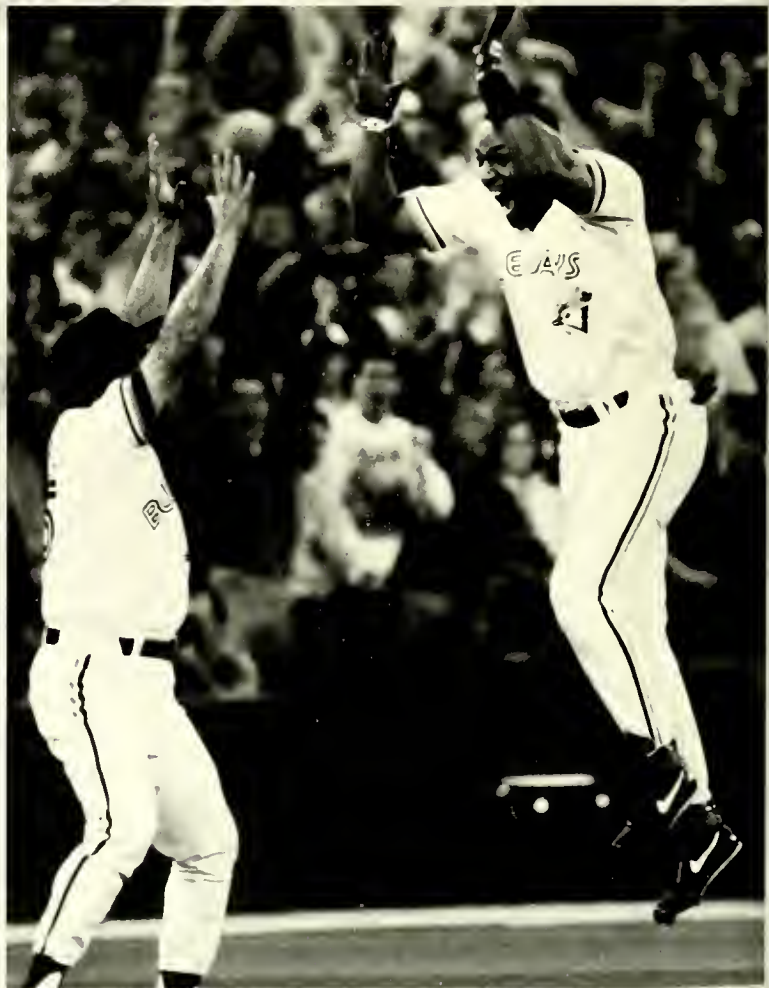

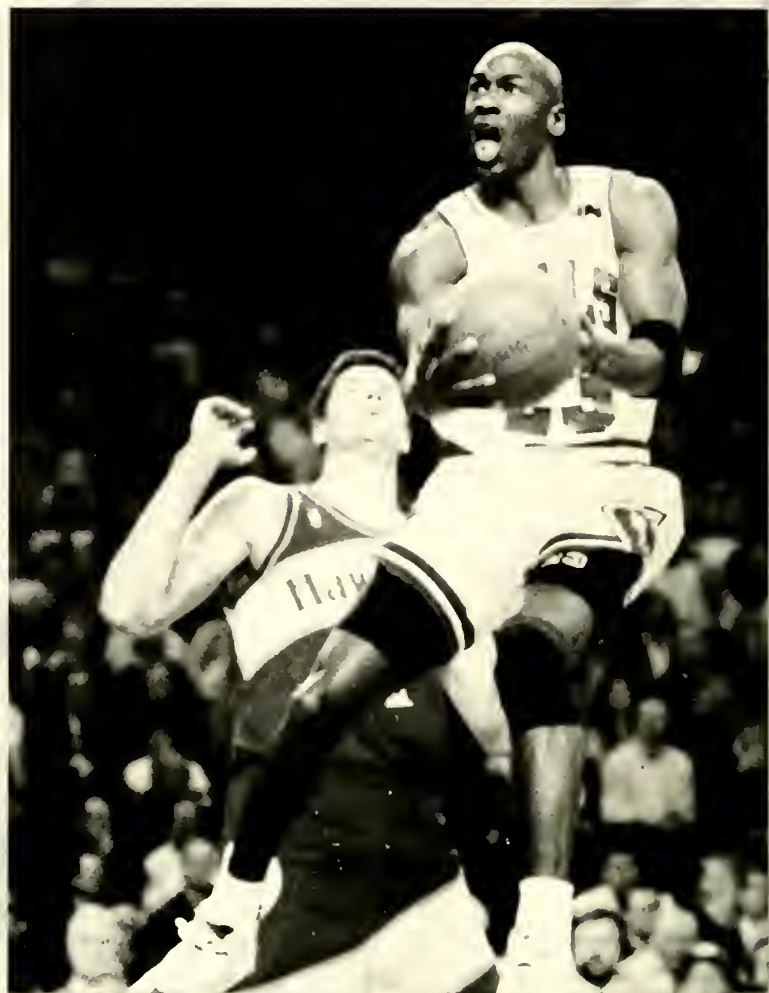

Over winter break the cafeteria was renovated to better serve student needs. The new serving islands offer greater choice and better service.

Sports Review

Michael Jordan gave up his basketball shoes in exchange for a baseball bat. After leading the Chicago Bulls to a never-before "three-peat" Jordan retired from professional basketball in 1993.

This moment was captured during a warm-up preceding a sumo tournament in California. The little boy is pushing with all his might against Japanese wrestler Konishiki.

The Toronto Blue Jays won the 1993 World Series with a ninth inning home run in game six. They beat Philadelphia's Phillies.

Nancy Kerrigan overcame an opponent's attack just before the Olympic trials to win a silver medal in Olympic competition. The attack created a media circus situation surrounding Tonya Harding, the alleged plotter of the attack.

The Dallas Cowboys won their second straight NFL championship by defeating the Buffalo Bills in the 1994 Superbowl. The Bills have lost all four of their Superbowl bids.

Entertainment Review

Kimberly Aiken, Miss South Carolina, won the 1994 Miss America title September 18, 1993. At 18, she is one of the youngest women to win the title.

Nirvana, the Seattle grunge rock band, won an MTV Video Music Award for best alternative video. Sadly, the band's front man, Kurt Cobain, committed suicide early in 1994. Reports sighted drug use and depression as possible causes.

Hip-hop group Arrested Development came on the music scene in 1993 and swept away MTV Awards and Grammys. They won for best rap video and also for new-comer of the year while delivering a message to black Americans: spend more time and money expressing your African heritage.

The NBC program "Seinfeld" won three Emmy Awards in 1993. The popular sitcom is applauded for its creativity and humor. "It's about everything" is the most common comment about "Seinfeld."

A Final Farewell

Thank You and Goodbye to Our Retirees

Dr. Donald S. Kline retired at the close of the Spring 1994 semester. Dr. Kline arrived at Methodist in 1988. He served as Professor of Business Administration and Economics. Dr. Kline also served as the faculty advisor for Students in Free Enterprise. His emphasis upon competency in business and passion for teaching will be greatly missed.

Dr. Garland Knott

Dr. Garland Knott retired from his post as Head of the Department of Philosophy and Religion in December of 1993, thus ending a 28-year career here at Methodist College. Dr. Knott joined Methodist in January 1966 as the College Chaplain and Assistant Professor of Religion.

Born in New Albany, Mississippi, Dr. Knott received his B.S. degree from Mississippi State, B.D. from Emory

University, and Ph.D. from Boston University. Dr. Knott came to Methodist from a teaching position at Wood Junior College in Mathiston, Mississippi, where he served as Chaplain and Professor of Education. Dr. Knott's special field is Christian education. Over the years, Dr. Knott has written and published many articles for Christian publications geared toward adolescents. Dr. Knott has also written and published articles in such publications as "Religious Education", "Explore", "Church School Magazine", and the program quarterly for Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Dr. Knott also served as the president of the United Methodist Association of Professors of Christian Education (UMAPCE) for two consecutive years in 1983-1984. A one-act play titled "One to Grow On" was also written by Dr. Knott and published by The Progressive Farmer. In his free time, Dr. Knott enjoys amateur radio and gardening.

The Carillon

We, the Staff of the 1993-94 Carillon, do not mean to assume royal airs. Rather, we wish to give our deepest thanks to those who you, our readers, are unaware of. Our utmost gratitude goes out to our advisor Mr. Bill Billings. He has supported us wholeheartedly throughout this tough creative process. Thank you for all of your advice, great pictures, and knowledge. Mr. Billings runs the Public Affairs Office as well as putting up with a group of young women who try to put together a yearbook.

We also wish to send our deepest thanks to Dave Ehinger, our Publishing Representative. Dave's sense of humor, professional skill, and belief in our abilities gave us the tools we needed to be successful. Thanks a million!

Special thanks also to Darren Overfelt, student photographer intern from Randolph Community College, for his excellent work last fall.

Ms. Sarah Fraley, secretary for Mr. Billings, also deserves our recognition and thanks. She has passed on numerous messages, found necessary files and pictures, and has been a sympathetic sounding board for our ideas. You are an asset to us Ms. Fraley and we appreciate all of your help.

All thanks to God who has given us the ability to be creative, accept challenge, and work hard at achieving our goal.

We extend our apologies to Margaret Weaver, a December '93 graduate, who was incorrectly listed in the '94 CARILLON as a freshman.

The 1994 Carillon was printed by Taylor Publishing company based in Dallas, Texas. The press run was 650 copies which contained 200 pages. There were 16 full-color pages.

The cover was a custom design created by the carillon staff and Taylor Publishing Representative Dave Ehinger. It consists of a 150 point binders board, forest green #239 Korigan base material and embossed with a cordova grain. Antique gold foil was applied along with a die cut.

Chancery typeface was used through the book which was printed on #80 gloss enamel paper.

This year, for the first time, every black and white photograph in the yearbook was electronically scanned and enhanced with the Taylor Ultra Digital printing process.
